

Working the Line
oil on canvas
Logan Hagege
16 x 20, framed 21.5 x 25.5
$3,000

October

Fall Arts Festival Across the Cape

For this Cape-wide festival of cultural events, the Addison Art Gallery will be open until 7 pm on Friday, October 2. On Saturday, October 3, we'll hold a Fall for the Arts Reception and Group Show of new works from 5:30 to 7:30. On Sunday, October 4, we will be open from noon until 5 pm. We hope you can join us.

American Art Collector is featuring Logan Hagege's new work on New England Fishermen in their October issue. "The artist's sophisticated paintings combine subtle color combinations along with a unique sense of form and shape creating a sensitive, almost primitive graphic feel."

According to Jeff Bonasia, artist and collector, "Logan Hagege's new work focusing on New England Fishermen struck me immediately. The work reminded me of work done in the early 20th century by someone living in Provincetown. It also made me recall N. C. Wyeth in its strength and character. The work is simple but deftly composed and the result is pretty powerful."

"There is no season when such pleasant and sunny spots may be lighted on, and produce so pleasant an effect on the feelings, as now in October."

Nathaniel Hawthorne

Playhouse
encaustic and oil stick
Marc Kundmann
36 x 24 $3,250.

Autumn's Inspirations Opening

On Saturday, October 10, from 5:30 to 7:30, the Addison Art Gallery will hold a reception for a show of new works by gallery and invited artists.

Previews are available at the gallery and at addisonart.com

Little House watercolor Vera Champlin 7.25 x 10 $700

"Just before the death of flowers, And before they are buried in snow, There comes a festival season When nature is all aglow."

Author Unknown

Sunflower Field, Provence
archival digital print Don Krohn
20 x 20, framed 27.25 x 26.75
unframed $850 framed $1,200

