At the gallery

With the traffic in a gentler mode, it's easier to get to Addison Art to see new works which continue to arrive almost daily. Carolyn, our webmaster, will keep our site up-to-date with the latest from all of our award-winning artists. We hope you visit us often (please call for hours), in Orleans or in cyberspace.

Thank you!

Various publications have referred to the Addison Art Gallery as "one of the most successful galleries in the country," "one of the nation's best round galleries," (American Art Collector) and "one of the nation's finest galleries" (Cape and Islands Arts Guide).

Our artists are regularly covered by the national and regional arts media. Their lists of awards and honors from country's most respected arts organizations grows.

We sincerely thank all of our collectors for supporting what we do. We fully realize that you make it all possible.

"There is a harmony in autumn, and a luster in its sky, which through the summer is not heard or seen, as if it could not be, as if it had not been!"

What would you like at Addison Art?

While we're making our plans for this winter and 2010, I would love to hear your ideas on what you would like to see, and to see happen, at the Addison Art Gallery. Please feel free to call me at 508.255.6200 or to send me an email. Thank you.

Are you ready for oysters?

Oysters harvested in months with an "r" are more succulent than their spring and summer counterparts. Some say this is a myth, but it's the truth and has to do with their reproductive cycles (I'll let interested parties do their own google search to keep this a PG newsletter).

Get your oysters surrounded by great art at the Wicked Oyster in Wellfleet and Arnold's in Eastham. Both restaurants have received rave reviews and have been busy all summer. So, now's your chance to enjoy the freshest harvests at a leisurely pace.

Exchange (diptych) oil on canvas Rick Fleury 20 x 40 x 1.5 $3,800

Rick Fleury Essays Online

Rick's successful summer readings can be read online at addisonart.com. According to Susan Regate, Executive Director of the Copley Society, "Fleury's awe inspiring paintings exemplify his profound appreciation and respect for the beauty ever present in his environment. With subtlety and grace, he communicates the natural splendor surrounding him." His essays demonstrate how he communicates through the word as well.

Your Artful Friends

If you like the gallery, have fun at our events and enjoy meeting the artists, please tell your friends. They can sign up for our email updates by contacting helen@addisonart.com and, of course, join you at our receptions. Thank you.

"By all these lovely tokens, September days are here, With summer's best of weather, And autumn's best of cheer."

SEPTEMBER 21 IS WORLD GRATITUDE DAY

The United Nations Meditation Group created World Gratitude Day to express appreciation for the great things that individuals and groups do. This recognition is on a global basis. According to their website: "World Gratitude Day presents an award to someone who we feel has done something outstanding in the spirit of Globalism."

This is also a day when we can feel grateful for the local and personal things and people that add to our lives. At the Addison Art Gallery, we are grateful for our talented artists and loyal collectors. You are the best!

A special "thank you" to everyone who showed Olivier Suire Verley such a warm welcome and added to his smashing shows at the Cape Cod Museum of Art and at Addison Art.

Jazz acrylic and oil Olivier Suire Verley 8.5 x 8.5 $1,800

The Cape is Alive!

Our theaters, museums, art organization, businesses and towns offer a plethora of fun and cultural activities. Meet an author, taste some wines, see a play, take a class, go to a festival.

Have fun and let us know what you like best and we'll pass on your suggestions. Thanks!
